

Critical Thinkers. Collaborators. Communicators.

Mark your calendars for the annual summer COBEC (Consortium of Belize Education Cooperation) conference held in Indianapolis, Indiana. This year it will be hosted by the University of Indianapolis. Home of the Indy 500 and the XLVI Superbowl, Indianapolis was named 34th out of the top 52 global destinations to visit in 2014 by the New York Times.

When: July 17th-19th, 2014

Register now to be a part of the contribution towards higher education in Belize. The COBEC conference is a unique opportunity to: communicate with fellow educators in an inspiring environment, collaborate in workshops to encourage research, teaching, curricular, and library development, and to educate participants and share ideas about study abroad programs in Belize for faculty, staff and students.

Location: University of Indianapolis

For more information contact Marilyn McElwain at mmcelwain@uindy.edu

COBEC CONFERENCE

MOVING FORWARD 2014

